Project Description

Our Cultural Resources Office of Interpretation and Education (<https://www.nps.gov/orgs/1023/whatwedo.htm>) does a variety of projects. Sometimes we need nice-looking flyers. We want to create a series of attractive booklets for historic preservation for more diverse communities based on this “Get Involved” booklet: <https://www.nps.gov/subjects/lgbtqheritage/upload/GetInvolvedFinalversion.pdf> We are thinking about posters and other materials for public interpretation about historic places. Join us and make our materials eye-popping!

Additional Information

This is occasional work. Much of it will depend on research and writing from other interns and so will not start immediately. The intern will exercise their creativity within basic National Park Service design guidelines. There will not be very much writing involved but the intern may need to edit content for design considerations. The intern will perform research to find appropriate public domain images.
